

Geography and human development:

islands, landlocked, and other countries, and distance from the equator.

