

Population size and human development:

islands, landlocked, and other countries.

